Transmitting report of Isaac J Cassin of Engin on Condition of Boilers.

Mint of the United States.

Agent of the United States
Dec. 4th 1868

A. Linden Snowden Esq
Chief Carrier

Sir, -

I beg leave, respectfully, to call your attention to the Condition of the steam boilers now in use. There are six of these boilers. Three of them have been in use about fifteen and a half years, having been constructed in the early part of the year 1853. The other three were manufactured in 1860, from material in the old boilers, in use prior to that time.

The whole six boilers have become so defective, from long and excessive service, that I consider their much further use inadvisable, and I cannot recommend them as absolutely safe or reliable. During the past year, they have, in several instances, exhibited unmistakable evidence of weakness, and that the condition of the iron is such that it cannot much longer be depended on with safety. In an establishment of the character of this institution, where so much depends upon the strength and good condition of the boilers, and where, in the event of an explosion, the loss of so many lives, and destruction of valuable and important property is involved, no cause of doubt should be permitted to exist, and only a condition of absolute safety can be tolerated. I respectfully recommend, that, the six boilers, here referred to, be removed during the present winter, and that new ones, of approved and undoubted construction, as regards safety and strength, be substituted.

I would suggest boilers similar in construction to those now in use, made of best charcoal iron, not less than three eighths of an inch thick
 - double riveted, and carefully and accurately fitted and constructed. Every boiler to be fitted with two safety valves, - two feed connec-tions, - one steam gauge, and all other reliable appliances for safety. The above recommendation is not made with a view of securing the most economical boiler as regards fuel, but it is the most simple, and comprehends the essen-tial features of strength and safety, and affords easy facilities for cleansing and repairs.

I would suggest that much more than ordi-nary ^{care} be observed in the construction of new boilers, so that the strains may be uniformly distributed and the greatest practicable strength secured, and that all holes for rivets and bolts be drilled instead of punched, after the sheets shall have been carefully fitted together.

A better arrangement of the flues leading from the fire to the stack, is desirable, for the purpose of more fully utilizing the whole heat.

These boilers are substituted to more than Ordinary Service, a portion of them being steamed up throughout the whole twenty four hours per day, six months of the year, for heating purposes, and they furnish steam for the various processes of Separating, Bleaching, &c.

It must be borne in mind that the Engines are in operation a greater length of time than in private establishments. Taking the average account of the past year it will be found that the maximum running time averaged about three and forty four minutes per day. Every boiler should be arranged so as to be capable of isolated and independent action, and while, under general circumstances, they might all be worked together, nevertheless, one should be separate and distinct from the others. As a measure of safety, the reasons for this latter suggestion are obvious. Many important details, of a practical character, are omitted, because there can be better and only satisfactory and fully communicated verbally.

Absolute safety is of paramount importance, and with this view, I take the liberty to respectfully, ask your serious and immediate attention to the foregoing recommendations.

Very Respectfully,
 Isaac H. Cassin

CHIEF COINER'S DEPARTMENT.

Philadelphia, Dec. 9th 1868

Dr. H. R. Linderman

Director U. S. Mint

Dear Sir

In compliance with your request, I herewith transmit the communication of the Engineer on the condition of the boilers in use in this Department.

How far the facts justify the conclusions arrived at, I am not prepared to say without a more rigid examination.

In this connection it may be proper to suggest, that the opinion of the City Inspector after careful tests, might be valuable in forming a just conclusion. I have no reason to doubt the general correctness of the facts as presented by the Engineer, and if his premises are to be taken without further investigation, I do not see how you can resist adopting his conclusions, that new boilers should be procured. I notice one error of statement, to which I direct your attention: Of the boilers manufactured in 1860, three (3) were made out of entirely new material, and not as stated "from material in the old boilers, in use prior to that time." The remaining three (3) were as stated, from old material.

I have the honor to remain for $42.⁶⁵

U. S. Mint.

W. E. Phillips

Submits his views in relation to issuing a fractional currency of standard silver upon the basis of National Bank currency.

Mint of the United States.

(I beg leave to submit to the Director the following rough Draft of a letter to the Chairman of the Committee on Finance, or on Coinage, or both. W.E.D.

Dear Sir,

Perceiving that the International Coinage Bill is to be postponed, I beg leave to ask whether another project, affecting only our home currency, can be entertained at the present session.

For more than seven years, we have had no circulation of silver, not even the smallest pieces. It is not necessary to state the reason. But it is worth while to look at the fact, that for the past three years, ~~has~~ the premium on our half and quarter dollars has ranged from 26 to 34 per cent., being usually six or seven per cent. below the gold premium. The dime and half dime are not so much in the market, and are probably lower.

Now this limited range, for so long a time, seems to indicate that the time has come, in which we can improve the minor currency, and rejoice the eyes of the people, by returning to the partial use of that beautiful white metal, possessed of a real value. Of course it must be done at such rates, and with such precautions, as will insure its circulation, prevent hoarding, and do no injustice. To speak in general terms, the idea is to issue a ~~silver~~ ^{of standard silver,} fractional currency, upon the basis of National Bank currency; to a limited extent, for a closely limited tender, and during a limited period; with a view to prepare the way for a complete return to specie.

The ~~Old~~ ^{before us,} example, although not a good one to follow in all respects, is found in the expedient which was adopted in England, during the long suspension of specie payments, occasioned by the wars with Napoleon. The Government did nothing; but the Banks of England and Ireland, and afterwards the ~~local Banks,~~ ~~and~~ mercantile houses, to the number of a hundred perhaps, issued Tokens made of dollar-silver, and mostly of the denomination of one shilling; some larger, and ^{some} smaller.

The private and irresponsible issue was a bad precedent. Coinage is a prerogative of the State, and not to be entrusted to other hands. But otherwise, it was a wise and useful expedient. The pieces were sufficiently reduced in weight to keep out of the reach of the premium on silver. They stood on the same basis, ^{as the Bank notes,} except that they carried with them a positive value. Those issued by the principal Banks, were so far legalized by acts of Parliament, as to make it penal to counterfeit them. They were always exchangeable for bank notes, and on the return to specie payments, fell into disuse; those which had been issued by responsible houses, were redeemed; the remainder ^{were recoined} ~~were~~ for only their intrinsic value. They are now only to be seen as Cabinet curiosities; the Mint Collection has about sixty varieties.

My object in writing now, is only preliminary, and for inquiry; and therefore I refrain from entering into details. A bill would have to be drawn, and reasons given by way of appendix, for each provision; some of which must be presented as alternatives, to meet conflicting views. These papers are not yet prepared, but could be got ready in a week. ~~a ten days~~.

As the Mint is likely to be on short work in the ensuing autumn and winter, the opportunity is a good one, for taking up such a task; and as I believe it would be a popular measure, and confer a great public benefit, I feel loath to let it go by for another year. ~~It~~ It might be attached to the Bill for nickel coinage, or be kept separate. And here I should specify, that the object is not to interfere with that currency in the least. The plan is to issue a single denomination, of twenty cents, so that all the currency below that mark would be filled up by the inferior coins. And that size is chosen so as not to interfere with the regular denominations of silver; while five pieces will evenly make a dollar, which is proposed to be the limit in any one payment.

But if it is not probable that such a Bill could be enacted this session, I would prefer to enter into no further particulars, but to wait the time, and prepare patterns or specimens in the meanwhile.

MELTING AND REFINING DEPARTMENT,

Philadelphia, 29. July. 1868

S^r H. K. Linderman

Director U. S. Mint

Dear Sir

The Register's addition of ounces being correct, I find that the weights in gross tons (2240) are as follows:

Bronze	52.197 Tons	} 9 months
Nickel Alloy	132.493 "

or for 12 months at same rate

Bronze	69.596 Tons	}
Nickel	176.657 "

By calculating from the above only the 5 cent metal issued in the last 9 months I find that it makes 25,587,285 pieces assumed at 77.16 grains per piece.

Since they are exactly .8 inch in diameter

I find that if they were laid side by side, they would reach miles poles yards foot.

$$323 + 22 + 5 + 1 = 1,705,819 \text{ feet.}$$

This is not long enough to tie the Atlantic States together, being not quite as far as Pittsburg by R.R..

Also at an average of 0.07619 inch in height, if all the 5-ct. pieces were piled on each other, they would make a thickness of $30 \frac{3}{4}$ miles.

Respectfully yours

I reached here to-day. I will be enabled to collect very valuable statistical information of the ~~production~~^{amount} of gold and silver produced in this region; and also in reference to some recent improvements in the workings of the mines. My main object now, however, is to call attention to a complaint which I heard at Denver, and is repeated here, namely that the gold from this Territory, is credited on the books of the Mint and assay office at N. York as coming from Montana and Idaho. There is some cause for complaint hereafter, as the people are partly sensitive on this subject.

To the Director.

I have to report, in relation to the Three-Cent nickel piece left here by Mr Davis, that I considered the case of sufficient importance to ~~demand~~^{receive} a particular examination. In external characters it was quite suspicious; both as to color, weight, deadness of sound, roughness in cutting, and the appearance of the impression. But its specific gravity, 8.9, indicated a genuine piece; & the question was set at rest by assay, which proved it to be the right alloy. I cannot well account for its suspicious appearance, but it shows how careful we should be to keep up uniformity in weight, color, and impression.

I have been busily engaged since my arrival here in making the investigation assigned by the Mas. Sept. I find some ^{high} points, and am able to report ^{any} some points which will be of advantage to the public service. I have however not completed my investigations. I intended to complete the investigation by then go up to the Mines & in the Mountain; but yesterday there was a great rain, which has laid the dust - henceforth most abundant - and I am advised that this will render the road, pleasant to travel. I therefore have concluded to go to the Mines & Mountain this forenoon, and hasten the completion of my investigations done until my return.

I hope to be able to gather some useful information, and make my mission here of some public advantage.

It is very expensive here. I have been compelled to draw on you. in accordance with the permission granted when I saw you - for $300.00 I drew today a draft on you for that amt. in favor of the National Bank of this City.

Mint of the United States, Philad^a. Decem. 5th 1868

Dear Sir

I feel it incumbent to place my views on record respecting the coin now being struck in my department intended, as I understand, to supply the international contingent of the United States.

As you are aware, the laws of the Mint make it the duty of the Engraver to "prepare and engrave all the dies used in the coinage, with the legal devices and inscriptions thereon": the duty thus defined, appears to devolve a responsibility, and implies a right, pertaining to the office I have the honour to hold.

In regard to the special interpretation of the law referred to, I would observe, that some years ago I had occasion to confer with the then Secretary of the Treasury, an eminent lawyer (Hon. T. Corwin) on this point, when he stated that in his view the law gave to the Engraver of the Mint, the control of the devices, as well as the engraving of the coinage.

I mention this to excuse what might otherwise be thought an assumption: a point I have never been solicitous to press; but whatever be the extent of responsibility attaching to my official position in the present instance — justice to my own judgement requires me to say that I do not consider the coin in question as a suitable representation of the artistic skill now under the orders of the government in the Mint, nor of the state of the arts in our country; for the following reasons—

In the first place; neither ^{on} the obverse nor reverse, is there any indication of national character, in the devices: the obverse bears the usual inscription, "United States of America"; but it surrounds a head that has no distinguishing trait to mark its claim to nationality; and in the next, it is deficient in dignity and refinement of expression, the proportions are without classical correctness; and as it appears on the coin would convey to foreign nations a very inadequate idea of the standard of art in the United States:—

This opinion of the device referred to, is shared by all the artists with whom I have exchanged views on the subject— and I shall regret to see it sent abroad as the contribution of the United States to the international coinage; or circulated as a production of the mint, while I am its Engraver.

With very sincere respect

Dear Sir:

In Compliance with your request, I herewith transmit the Communication of the Engineer on the Condition of the boilers in use in this Department. How far the facts justify the Conclusions arrived at, I am not prepared to say, without a more rigid Examination. In this Connection it may be proper to suggest, that the opinion of the City Inspector after Careful Tests, might be valuable in forming a just Conclusion. I have no reason to doubt the general Correctness of the facts as presented by the Engineer, and if his premises are to be taken without proper investigation, I do not see how you can resist adopting his conclusions, that new boilers should be procured. I notice one error of statement, to which I direct your attention: of the boilers manufactured in 1860, three (3) were made out of entirely new material, and not as stated "from material in the old boilers in use prior to that time". The remaining three were as stated, from old material.

I have the Honor to be

Very Respectfully,

Dear Sir

Will you have the goodness to inform me how many differ-various coinages of the United States or perhaps I should say, how many years the dies have been changed - I mean, in gold, silver & copper or

As soon as soon as the winter breaks up or as soon as the snow melts to have some minerals tested which I discovered at different times within the last equal years along the head of the Pennsylvanian. I am in my opinion very valuable but I am at a loss to know how to have them tested. Consequently have written to the U.S. Mint for information The one deposit I wish to have tested is a mass of iron ore to be seen or more bones and is held in a sort of rotten state. Said deposits are composed of round or oblong balls varying in weight from one to fifty pounds and are of course weight considering their size which broken they have the appearance of flint filled with veins of flint glass.

The other deposits I found in a rock from the section and I have reason to believe they are of mineral value.

You will please give me at your earliest convenience the proper way to have minerals tested and the fee concerning the right to discover. I wish to have from you by return of mail I enclose any receipt

Dear Sir

The steamer has arrived with the 25 Packages, as per Bill of Lad-ing dated Dec. 25th 1868.

The steamer freight amounts to $1000.
We have not yet paid the balance on the first 141 Packages.

The balance now in the hands of the Arist Oceanic Co. here, are, coins for $2.12, and in Legal Tender $10.00 shown by the enclosed bill amount.

You shipped to London the 141 Packages per B/L dated Dec. 25th 1868.

Whitney & Co. Forwarders at Liverpool said they would advance the money for transportation to London, provided I was sure of its payment, and be-some responsible for it, as much as I dislike to become responsible for Gov.

debts, I thought it actually necessary to keep the machinery pushed along.

The drawings forwarded by you on the 1st ult. are due for this steamer, but did not come to hand; perhaps were delayed in getting to New York in time for the steamer, which left last night 9th inst. and will arrive the next.

Many of the packages of fish were so very heavy when they arrived, and one on the dock is detached pieces. None of the pieces themselves are broken, as far as we could discover. Some of the boxes needed repacking.

The breeze had very severe weather during the last week for transportation I cannot yet tell with what success we will meet regarding its transit on over the mountains.

Please write me regarding money necessary for transportation.

Very Respectfully
Yours

ment of

You also state in your letter of the 12th instant that there is a fund of $11,000 gold which has accrued from the parting charges prior to July 1. 1868, which you suggest may be converted into currency as is the practice in the Assay Office in New York, and paid into the Treasury to the Credit of the Contingent fund of the Mint and thus made available for the expense of erecting new boilers without asking for a separate appropriation for that purpose.

Your suggestions have my approval and you are authorized, if in your judgment you consider it necessary for the safety and efficiency of the Mint, to order the erection of the boilers as proposed, and also to convert the accrued funds

Your letter of the 28th ultimo is received transmitting a copy of a report of J. S. Cassin Engineer of the Mint in relation to the condition of the boilers now in use in the Mint, from which it appears that the six boilers have become so defective from long and effective service that they are no longer considered safe and reliable.

You also enclose a copy of a proposition from Morgan & Co., for manufacturing and putting up new boilers at an expense of sixteen thousand five hundred Dollars ($16,500), which you propose to accept and order the work to proceed at once under the supervision of the Engineer, of the Mint.

1 Pig for steamer which arrived here Jan 11th/99. No Bill lading issued

All the above are now in possession of except the last one which are in the warehouse.

I find that the accounts and figures are one as you will notice by the enclosed statement in 2014. In fact, add to the 1900, the estimated, and that will be done when the last pigs arrive, in Lancaster City which is now on the way which is total of some 1,246 pigs. The draft will liquidate 1,000, of which and leaving as some 246, in debt for transportation of pigs and all other duties.

The amount to be received from the city requires the population of the city of pigs which I will telegraph for when I hear about the other needs.

Have had heavy rain, and the roads are bad for freight, getting everything in considerable haste. I am very much looking for the season of the year.

I am sorry that a list of the contents of each case had not been sent me from time to time as they were shipped so that I could look out for to give particular instructions regarding those containing very delicate or fragile apparatus such as scales &c.

The letter of instruction regarding the disbursement of the $500. per, has not come to hand. I cannot draw the money & parties are waiting anxiously for it. If it does not arrive by the 1st Feb. I shall telegraph you for the sum, that I want by Feb. 1st or 15th at least, & perhaps make a new one for the machinery yet to arrive.

The last 4th Pkgt. arrived for steamers Feb. 15th inst. left fragments for Canon City on the 21st inst.

As Forwarders have been paid enough to repay for their money, & therefore I think to pay them as soon as possible, (especially when the funds are here) that the bill's credit may not be lost.

Jan 11th Jan 18th 1869

Dear Sir

Your letter of the 29th ult., and telegram of the 16th inst. in reference to Draft of $500. came to hand. I am glad as I wish to ship more Packages to Carson City. I have had parties running after me to know when freight money will arrive.

The Bill of Lading for the last 43 Packages which arrived here last morning have not yet come; probably the bill containing it has been misrouted. I shall however pay the freight, and give bond if necessary for it.

I enclosed a copy of your letter in reference to the appropriation to Mr. Leamy.

The expense of putting up the display will be considerable owing to the amount of cutting of stone work that will be necessary in basement, for shafting, such as cutting in wall-plates, and timbers for bearings, as well as cutting bell holes for Machinery on Eastman Floor as per drawings. The wages of good masonry, suitable for putting up the shaft of machinery & apparatus are $12.50. I shall have paid for the city a machinist for setting of the shafting, shafting, a Carpenter & Plumber for the lifting work, and a bricklayer for setting the stones. As good workmen for the floor cannot be found in Boston, the Carpenter, Plumber & Bricklayer are the same parties who do similar kind of work in our Branch. There will be considerable plumbing work needed, as the pipes & valves are in the building at present, not even the water closet connections.

I received a letter dated 15th inst. from Mr. Henry yesterday, stating that 34 packages of Machinery had arrived in, Boston.
These belong to the lot of 140 Packages for O/S

2 After it had shipped from the city, it took the roads one load, and it takes a longer time to transport the last, than it did the first lot.

Not knowing the cost of packing, yet to arrive at church hall what amount of funds will be needed for freight, etc.
 of the $5000. on the way.

Our package arrived to day for delivery when we will be ready for it.

D^r W. R. Linderman

Director U. S. Mint. Philad^a

Dear Sir

The models submitted to me as exhibiting the means of counterfeiting are of all others the most generally made use of for that purpose by that class of persons, as being so inexpensive, readily made and so capable of being quickly destroyed when detection approaches.

But these very points render the produce of their labor less dangerous to the public as there is scarcely any person at the present day who is unacquainted with some one of the ready means of detection.

In the first place a fusible metal must be employed - which differs materially in hardness from the Nickel coin - Next the gate,

(or place of pouring in the metal) obliterated the milling on the edges always showing an imperfect edge.

Thirdly the piece loses entirely the metallic ring, falling with a heavy dull sound unmistakably opposed to the true sharp sound with which all tradesmen are so familiar. and almost surely the weight of a cast piece is greatly at fault, so that this simple test will settle any doubt.

The colour also and what is everywhere understood as the "greasy look" is a very ready test, although this may be pretty well concealed in the case of a counterfeit of Silver, well coated, but even there the colour is not natural, and a little inspection betrays the imposture, so that if the public will use only the smallest precaution and try any one of the foregoing tests viz: looking at the imperfect edge, trying the soft metal by bending or biting the piece, or testing the metallic sound by ringing it, the presence of any of these deficiencies, implies the others, and detection follows.

Chambers McKibbin Esq
Sir

Referring to the enclosed letter from the Secretary of the Treasury and the authority contained therein you will please sell the gold coin accruing from deductions from depositors prior to July 1st 1868 and transfer to the ordinary account the proceeds thereof to meet the expenses of constructing new boilers

Respectfully
J. R. Anderson
Director

Treasury Department
January 13th 1869.

Sir,

Your letter of the 28th ultimo is received transmitting a copy of a report of J. S. Cassin Engineer of the Mint in relation to the condition of the boilers now in use at the Mint, from which it appears that the six boilers have become so defective from long and effective service that they are no longer considered safe and reliable.

You also enclose a copy of a proposition from Morgan & Orr for manufacturing and putting up new boilers at an expense of sixteen thousand five hundred Dollars ($16,500) which you propose to accept and order the work to proceed at once under the supervision of the Engineer of the Mint.

You also state in your letter of the 12th instant that there is a fund of $11,000 gold which has accrued from the parting charges prior to

July 1. 1868 which you suggest may be converted into currency as is the practice in the assay office in New York, and paid into the Treasury to the credit of the contingent fund of the Mint and thus made available for the expense of erecting new boilers without asking for a separate appropriation for that purpose.

Your suggestions have my approval and you are authorized, if in your judgement you consider it necessary for the safety and efficiency of the Mint, to order the erection of the boilers as proposed, and also to convert the accrued funds $11,000. Gold, derived from the parting charges into currency to be paid into the Treasury to be used for the purpose proposed by you.

Very Respectfully

Sir:

In consequence of the decrease of the demand for the minor coinage a reduction of force at the Mint has become necessary. The operative officers will therefore please prepare as early as convenient a list of all persons employed in their respective departments and state what number of employes can be dispensed with without impairing the efficiency of the Mint. From present appearances the amount of minor coins required to be prepared will not exceed $5000 per day.

My Dear Governor

I have the enclosed letter from Prof Edward North of Hamell N. Y. & have sent him in reply the laws & the last Director's report. If you have any other documents which you can send him please do so, or (if you can state ~~to him~~ in brief the ^{wright, value & origin & purity} weight & value of the gold & silver coins of U. S. since the establishment of the Mint send me such a letter and I will transmit it to him -)

I left Phil too hastily, but shall do for the pleasure of accompanying Prof May & the Imp. Peterburg where I found on the train & above a gentleman was my acquaintance I have met them twice since -

You will of course report to me on your arrival here and after you visit I hope to go to Ark. & spend two or three days with Dr. Scobey & family without but enough to interfere

Mother had written to your wife & Mother for your

1. "The Relations of the United States to the Indian Tribes."
 2. "The Sensational in Literature."
 3. "The Achievements of American Artists."
 4. "The Prose and Poetry of the Sea."
 5. "Reverence in the American Character."
 6. "The Progress of Liberty in England."

Regulations for the Clark Prize.

1. Any member of the Senior Class, in actual attendance during the Second Term, may write upon either one of the subjects assigned.
2. Each Oration must contain not more than twenty folios: it must be signed with a fictitious name, and this name superscribed on a sealed note containing the author's real name.
3. The Orations must be left with the President before 12 o'clock on Wednesday, April 7th, 1869.
4. The best six Orations will be selected by the Faculty, and the names of the successful competitors will be announced on the second Thursday in May.
5. The Orations will be delivered under the direction of the Kingsley Professor of Rhetoric, on the evening of the second Wednesday in June.
6. The Prize will be awarded on Commencement day.
7. A copy of each of the Orations will be kept in the College Library.
